In Memoriam

WILLIAM DEVORE

B.L.S. CLASS OF 1929

As time passes, more and more people have come to realize the great loss which the school has suffered by the passing of William Devore. In an age of conflict and confusion rarely does there occur a personality that combines such disciplined formness with gentility. He always impressed those he came in contact with by his infinite patience, kindness, and understanding. Invariably he assumed and performed tasks far beyond the extent of his professional duties, trying always to aid and assist others.

These qualities plus his devotion to the highest educational ideals, transformed into a great and imaginative teacher, a dedicated department head, and a hard working, consciencious assistant headmaster who will be remembered fondly by all who were fortunate enough to know him whether student or master.

Abe Gibron: Chicago's Bear.

I listened to a pro coach yesterday who makes John Mazur sound like a wild-eyed radical. Compared to him, Vince Lombardi was a permissive mealy mouth.

The coach I'm talking about is 63 steps to the right of Spiro Agnew. His name is Abe Gibron... coach of the Chicago Bears. Gibron's philosophy is even more interesting than his team. He says he doesn't listen to all the bull about hair. "It's all gone on our club, at least 90 percent of it. And moustaches must be trimmed and neat." Like Hitler's, presumedly.

Gibron was asked what he would do if Butkus chose to wear curls to his shoulders and a Fu Manchu moustache. "You don't have to worry about Dick Butkus," he said. "If a coach told Butkus to shave his head for the good of the team, he'd shave it... he doesn't want to save the world, he just wants to play football."

That's what Abe Gibron wants, too, and he feels his methods will return the Bears to their years of glory.

I wonder if he'll vote for Coolidge Nov. 7.
